

Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago

Press Release

Allison Fore

Public and Intergovernmental Affairs Officer

312.751.6632

allison.fore@mwr.org

100 East Erie Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611

For immediate release

June 26, 2014

Exec. Director David St. Pierre addresses City Club of Chicago

During his speech to 330 guests at the City Club of Chicago on June 24, Metropolitan Water Reclamation District of Greater Chicago (MWRD) Executive Director David St. Pierre spoke about the District's accomplishments over the past 125 years. He also discussed the MWRD's leading role in the wastewater treatment and resource reclamation industries.

While the MWRD has numerous "firsts" in the industry in terms of equipment, processes and performance standards awards, the executive director also highlighted the importance of financial stability and improving the natural and public environment.

He stated that the District has hard working employees dedicated to assisting the municipalities and residents of Cook County. "This is an exciting time to be working in the wastewater industry," Executive Director St. Pierre told the audience. "We have difficult problems and we have a stellar staff helping us."

Video of the presentation may be found on our website, mwr.org, under Newsroom>Media>Audio/Video.

In the photo: MWRD Executive Director David St. Pierre addresses a sold out crowd at the City Club of Chicago held at Maggiano's on June 24.

In the photo: MWRD Secretary to Officer Deb Levy and MWRD President Kathleen Therese Meany pause for a photo at the City Club of Chicago presentation on June 24.

###

Our Water Environment: Take it personally

Established in 1889, the MWRD (www.mwr.org) is an award-winning, special purpose government agency responsible for wastewater treatment and stormwater management in Cook County, Illinois.